

Renewable Electricity

in G20 Countries

Country

Year

Sama den...Masukkan nilai

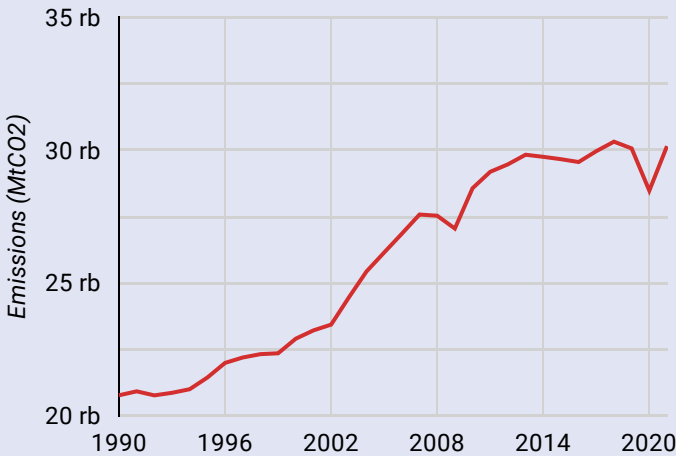

Background

Fossil fuel is still the main source for energy production, including electricity.

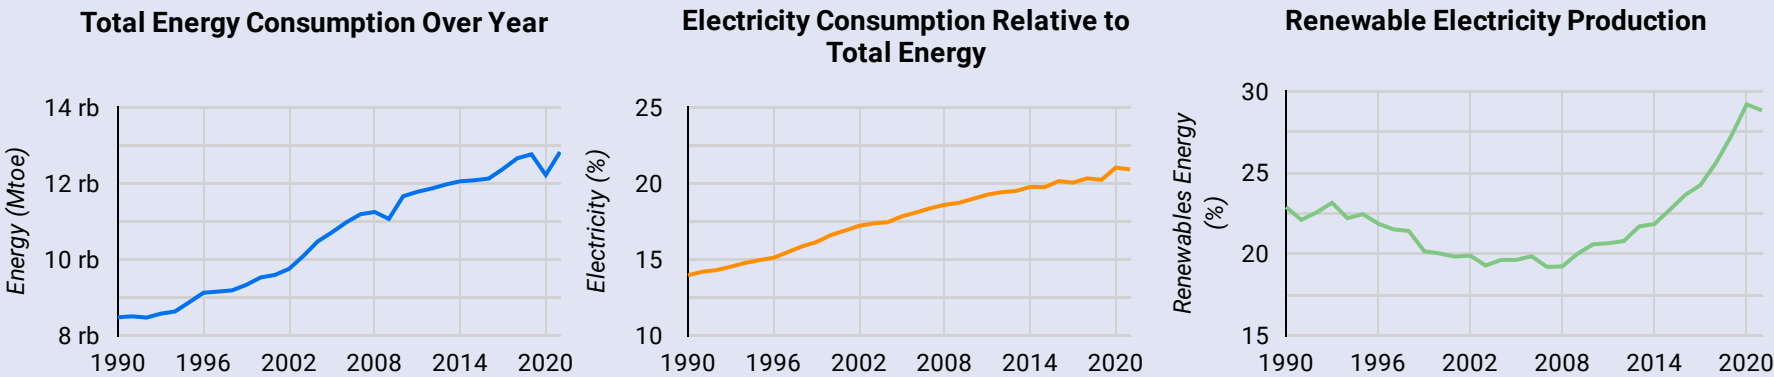

In the last 10 years, CO₂ emissions from fossil fuel combustion (oil, coal, and gas) tend to increase in G20 Countries.

As a greenhouse gas, the accumulation of CO₂ in the atmosphere impacts significantly on climate and air quality

CO₂ Emissions

The Condition of Energy Production and Consumption

Map of Renewable Electricity Production

